Tribune News Service Ludhiana, November 10 A case has been registered against 25 individuals at the Labour Court for allegedly running a riot and damaging a bakery in Bikki village on September 6 last. The issue was discussed in the current meeting of the Labour Court held today. A case has been registered on October 15 and the investigation is on. This is despite the court's action against the man whose video footage went viral on social media. Meanwhile, the information department of the LG department said the human rights of labour were being protected by the Supreme Court and the Punjab and Haryana High Court. Nixon'

Understanding the mechanisms underlying the obesity-related sympathetic activation and obesity's consequences may shed light on the pathophysiology of the metabolic syndrome. The sympathetic-parasympathetic balance of 943 healthy young adults was evaluated using frequency domain analysis of HRV. After adjusting for age, sex, and body mass index (BMI), only circadian sleeping hours correlated negatively with RMSSD and negatively with TP. Other obesity-related parameters including the BMIs of various body compartments, the presence of visceral obesity (VF), and the presence of diabetes and hypertension were not related to HRV. These data suggest that healthy young adults have a high level of sympathetic tone even when they are not overweight. The present invention relates generally to electro-optic displays, and more particularly to display devices including electrophoretic and/or electrochromic materials. One type of electro-optic display, more commonly known as an electrophoretic display (EPD), uses an electrophoretic medium having one or more charged pigment particles suspended in a fluid having a dark and a light color, or a dark and a colored color, or a dark color and a transparent color or white color. A bichromal (dual-color) electrophoretic display uses two electrophoretic fluids, one filled with black pigment particles and one filled with a colored pigment particles, to produce a display of two different colors. A tri-level (or trichromal) electrophoretic display uses three electrophoretic fluids filled with colored pigment particles to produce multiple levels of color. Such a display is described in U.S. Pat. No. 6,180,520 and in U.S. Patent Publication Nos. US2003/0109219 and US2004/0176437. The electrophoretic medium in such a display appears as a multi-colored image that changes color as the pigment particles migrate to different positions under the influence of f678ea9f9e
